Cokeville High School Newsletter — November Highlights

As we move deeper into the fall semester, there's a lot to celebrate at Cokeville High School!

The Power of Kacey McAllister: Our students were inspired by the powerful message shared by author and motivational speaker Kacey McAllister. His story of perseverance, resilience, and choosing to rise above challenges left a lasting impression on everyone in attendance. Students walked away reminded that success often comes through determination and a positive mindset, no matter the obstacles faced.

Outstanding Junior Class ASVAB Performance: Congratulations to our junior class for their exceptional performance on the ASVAB assessment! The assessor, who has been administering the test for more than 40 years, remarked that he had never seen such a large percentage in a group score so high in one or more areas. He went on to say that this group of students has the potential to change the world—and we couldn't agree more! Their performance reflects hard work, strong critical thinking, and bright futures ahead.

Parent Teacher Conferences: Mark your calendars—Parent-Teacher Conferences will be held the week of November 17th. We encourage all parents and guardians to attend. These conferences are a valuable opportunity to connect with teachers, discuss progress, and support your student's academic and personal growth.

Music Honor Clinics: Several of our talented students have been invited to or are participating in music honor clinics this fall. These opportunities provide valuable experiences for students to collaborate with top musicians and directors, enhance their skills, and bring back new ideas to strengthen our own music program. We're proud of their dedication and commitment to the arts!

Fall Sports and School Spirit: Our volleyball and football teams continue to make us proud as they compete in regional and state tournaments. We encourage the entire community to come out and cheer for our Panthers as they represent Cokeville with grit, sportsmanship, and pride.

Sadie Hawkins Dance: Students, don't forget to grab your dancing shoes! The Sadie Hawkins Dance will be held on Friday, November 21st. We're looking forward to a fun evening filled with music, laughter, and memories. Be sure to plan ahead and join us for a great time!

Thank you for your continued support! Please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Dietz
Cokeville K-12 Principal

From the Office - November is upon us already. The school year is flying fast. Don't forget Parent/Teacher Conferences at the High School will be November 18th from 4:00 until 7:00pm. We appreciate the parents who take the time to come and visit with the teachers about their Students' grades. Please plan to attend that evening.

JH volleyball and football have now ended and we are starting the seasons for wrestling and Girls basketball. Please make sure that their activity fee is paid at the office if you didn't pay for it at registration time. The fee is $30.

Good luck to the high school football team and volleyball team as they head off to regionals and state. We are cheering you on! We love our Panthers!

Reminder that school will be an early release on November 26th for Thanksgiving break. We hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving with family and friends. - Lynne Pope

From the Media Center - We have a few fun activities happening in the library in November!

We are going to do Thanksgiving Bingo and anyone that gets a bingo will get a piece of candy. We are also going to do a "Who is at your Literacy Table" activity where the kids will write down a person from a book they have read that they would invite to Thanksgiving dinner and what they would talk about with them. The reading incentive for the month is the class that reads the most words will get a pie party. We will measure this through renaissance.

The book theme for November will be Grateful, Thankful, Blessed. We will have feel-good books on display that are about Thanksgiving, baking, family, and friends. Any kids that read any of the books off the display shelves and test on them will get a piece of candy.

We also have our library website back up and running, so take a look at that if you get a chance! - Madi Pauni

A note from the Nurse -

How Sick is Too Sick? When to stay home from school

When your child is feeling unwell, it can be challenging to determine whether they should go to school. Generally, unless they are significantly ill, it's best for them to attend.

However, there are certain situations where it's advisable to keep them home:

- Persistent fever (temperature over 100.4 degrees Fahrenheit)
- Severe sore throat lasting more than 48 hours, especially with fever
- Significant rash, especially if accompanied by other symptoms
- Excessive discolored nasal drainage
- Severe ear pain
- Uncontrolled cough
- Vomiting or diarrhea
- Severe headache, especially with fever

LCSD2 Health Services follows guidelines from the American Academy of Pediatrics to prevent the spread of contagious illnesses among students and staff. They enforce the following policies:

- ❖ Students must be fever-free without medication for 24 hours before returning to class or events.
- ❖ Students shouldn't return until 24 hours after vomiting stops unless it's deemed non-communicable.

Medicating a feverish child before sending them to school is not advised, as you will likely get a call to pick up your student once the medication wears off. All students must be fever-free for 24 hours before returning to school in order to minimize the spread of illnesses.

If your child frequently wants to stay home from school, is falling behind, or appears anxious about attending, it's wise to reach out to the school and healthcare provider to address your concerns. Please remember to inform the school office if your child will be absent.
